

MOOD: hungry

MUSIC: Calexico - Sunken Waltz

standuponit

 standuponit

<https://standuponit.livejournal.com/2010-04-18> 17:16:00

Nota Bene: If you should find yourself without cilantro or parsley, dandelion greens are acceptable as an herb/bitter green in salsa.

TAGS: it's food isn't it?

This looks like a good idea.

...

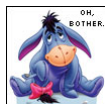

This.

...

Little guy's not bad.

Gotta teach RHex to smear.

9 comments

 bkwrrm_tx

April 18 2010, 21:20:10 UTC COLLAPSE

Mmmmmmmmm... dandelion greens with a hot bacon/vinegar dressing? That brings back childhood for me.

 standuponit

April 18 2010, 22:39:18 UTC COLLAPSE

Not too many dandelions in Vegas, but my mom used to do that with collards.

 kayjayoh

April 19 2010, 03:35:13 UTC COLLAPSE

I do that with spinach a lot. I also like to toss in some feta.

 artemishi

April 18 2010, 21:27:20 UTC COLLAPSE

OoOoOoOoo....thank you! :D

 standuponit

April 18 2010, 22:39:26 UTC COLLAPSE

shares

 txanne

April 18 2010, 22:15:24 UTC COLLAPSE

They're also very nice as an omelette filling, sauteed with onions and bacon. (But then, virtually all greens are nice sauteed with onions and bacon.)

 standuponit

April 18 2010, 22:38:53 UTC COLLAPSE

I just made the best improvised dinner for three ever.

 txanne

April 18 2010, 22:41:33 UTC COLLAPSE

Say on! What did you have besides salsa? (Which I have been known to eat with a spoon; what is salsa but chunky gazpacho?)

 standuponit

April 18 2010, 22:47:14 UTC COLLAPSE

See next rock. I just posted what passed for a recipe. (Read: fridge rummage.)